GET SPOOKED!!!

Halloween Rally

Last Friday, October 25, Amesbury High School had their annual Halloween rally! The rally was a fierce competition between the freshmen in purple, sophomores in orange, juniors in black, and seniors in their costumes. In an emergency replacement, Mr. Osgood acted as the MC of the rally starting it off with fall sports captains saying the pledge. This was followed by the national anthem sung beautifully by Ellie Marden. After an energizer led by Dash Bogart, Dorian Willerson, and Jared Black, the rally was underway. The first game was four corners, this competition ended up being a thrilling competition coming down to the juniors and seniors. Ultimately, the event was won by senior Julia Parsons. Next up was the dizzy bat relay.

Sully is VERY excited to be a minion.

This game required a competitor to spin around a bat five times, followed by hopping on one foot down the court, and crab walking back. The competition was a close one, but ultimately won by the juniors after a strong effort. The third event was a cornhole competition where five students from a grade would need to hole out to win their match.

FRESHMEN MAKE BANK

On Sunday, the Freshman class volunteered at the Xfinity Newburyport Half Marathon, Relay & 5k. They served over 140 pizzas; distributed gear, snacks, and water; and kept the event nice and clean! Twenty-two kids participated, and the class earned $800.

Right: Brooke Woodsom, Elizabeth Patch, Kensie Cameron, Lia Justfado, Sarah Jonk, Caroline Rum, Ariana Mangolancum, Tori Woodsom, and Jackson Dixie serve pizza.

NO CHANGE FOR NOW

Don't expect 7th and 8th graders to be coming to AHS any time soon. Superintendent Elizabeth McAndrews recently stated that the School Committee will be making no configuration changes for next year at the high school or elementary schools. There has been some discussion of just moving the 8th grade, but that would not be cost effective.

ANOTHER HALL OF FAME

Last Thursday night, eight former athletes were inducted into the athletic hall of fame. These same inductees were also introduced at the football game Friday night. Some familiar faces included former guidance counselor and hockey great George Dodier, assistant baseball coach and outstanding baseball player Paul Walton, famous softball coach Chris Perry, and softball pitcher Ashley Waters, who was also the first female basketball player to score 1000 points. Waters has a particular distinction in that she will now she will be on both honor walls at AHS. She is already on the front AEFI Wall for her accomplishments as a softball coach at Boston University. Now, she will be on the wall outside the gym for her athletic accomplishments.

HOMECOMING LOOKING GOOD

When the Student Council agreed to sponsor a first ever Homecoming Dance, they were understandably hesitant due to the lack of successes of dances lately. Putting on a dance is expensive and no organization wants to invest hundreds of dollars to have a dozen people show up. Thus, they said they would only do it if 150 students bought the $25 tickets by today. As of Wednesday, over 150 people had bought tickets so it seems like this is a go. Other

Horoscope

Virgo (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)

Life: IDK (not my job). \_(ツ)_/

Singles: You will awake in the depths of the Crystal Cave of Corgarthitrelx with its depository of rare Corgarthitrelxian oil that provides a million times the power as normal gasoline, and will purchase the land to become a heartless oil baron.

Couples: You and your partner will both trip over the same rock.

Libra (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)

Life: You will become a film snob.

Singles: You have already met the one, you just don't know it.

Couples: You and your partner will both have something to tell the other and will decide to say it at the same time and you both say "I want to break up" like in a rom-com.

Scorpio (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)

Life: You will discover what will become your favorite album of all time, only for it to disappear off the face of the Earth the next day.

Singles: You will realize they were not in your head the whole time, and you should have taken your chance with them.

Couples: You will realize they were in your head the whole time.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 - Dec. 21)

Life: You will scale Mount Everest only to realize you are not the highest person on Earth because your guide is taller than you, so you push him off to feel validated.

Singles: You will hit the parked car of your soulmate.

Couples: Your partner will turn into a dragon... but you don't mind.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 - Jan. 20)

Life: You will become the wolf you were always destined to be.

Singles: You will become a saturation diver.

Couples: You and your partner will become saturation divers, but will get annoyed with each other having to stay in a sub for weeks on end.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)

Life: You will write your masterpiece, only to realize you accidentally wrote Moby Dick word for word (how were you supposed to know? You've never read it).

Singles: You will meet the woman of your dreams, only for your relationship to be stopped by an organization who controls fate.

Couples: You and your partner will stay together this week, but only barely.

Pisces (Feb. 20 - Mar. 20)

Life: The star player will get injured in the fourth quarter, forcing the coach to put you, a benchwarmer, into the game, and even though it starts out rough, you shoot at the buzzer and win the big game.

Singles: You will have to come to terms with the fact that the worst person you know made a good point.

Couples: You and your partner will have a milk chugging competition (is there really a winner in that situation?)

Aries (Mar. 21 - April 20)

Life: You will get away with shoplifting.

Singles: You will charge people to enter your haunted field, but it's just a normal field, and when people want refunds, you say they don't have the "gift."

Couples: You and your partner will reject the corporate nature of modern Halloween and embrace the ancient practice of fighting spirits (the true Halloween spirit).

Taurus (April 21 - May 20)

Life: You will become the first person to walk on the floor of the Mariana Trench, but nobody will believe you.

Singles: You will bravely dye the bleached coral back (that's how it works, right?)

Couples: You and your partner will be jailed for your ocean pollution.

Gemini (May 21 - June 21)

Life: You will move to the uninhabited Palmyra Atoll.

Singles: You will write an eighth Harry Potter book about their stupid kids from that epilogue.

Couples: You and your partner will battle against each other in a stamp design contest.

Cancer (June 22 - July 24)

Life: You will be medically diagnosed with brain rot.

Single: You will say who instead of whom and everyone will make fun of you for it.

Couples: You and your partner will legally have to switch names.

Leo (July 25 - Aug. 23)

Life: You will not complete your homemade lunar module this week.

Singles: You will transition back from an aboveground rapper to an underground rapper.

Couples: Your partner will be diagnosed with Subterranean Homesick Blues (RIP - it's fatal).

WHAT A KICKER

Girls' Soccer

By Annah Belisle

The Amesbury Redhawks Girls' Soccer team had quite the ending to the final week of their season. They started off facing Lynnfield on Tuesday in Landry with a loss of 7-0. Though it was a tough loss, the girls packed up and headed to Salem for their Wednesday night game in Salem. The girls played a very competitive game, going into the half 0-0, though the Witches were able to put one up on the Redhawks early in the second half. Unable to score, the Redhawks took a loss in the second-to-last game of the season. Though facing two tough losses that week, the girls rallied to beat Rockport on Thursday for their senior night. Senior captains Add Upson, Sadie Bolth, and Stella Mitchell, along with seniors Mia Deluca and Annah Belisle, were walked out by fellow teammates and family. Kickoff was taken by senior captain Stella Mitchell; after an emotional start to the game, the RedHawks focused up. The first goal was scored in the second half by Maddie Clark, making the score 1-0. That would not be the only goal for Clark this game, as she scored the game winning goal in the last minute of the game, making the score 2-1 and the Redhawks win. The Amesbury student section rallied for the girls soccer team. Thursday night was a positive end to a tough season for the Amesbury Girls' Soccer team.

TIGERS HELD TO 0 POINTS.

Football

There's not much to say about last Friday's 36-0 win over Ipswich at home. Amesbury stopped the Tigers from the beginning and led 28-0 at the half. Captain DJ DiCarlo showed why he is the top running back in the area by scoring four touchdowns and rushing for 106 yards. Mostly DiCarlo runs it right up the gut of the opposing team for moderate but consistent yardage over and over and over. Connor Scialdone added another TD to the mix. The defense stopped Ipswich cold most of the time. The Redhawks are now 5-2.

Tonight's home game against Manchester-Essex should be a different story. Manchester is listed 8th in the MIAA power rankings, while the Redhawks are 6th. Both have 5-2 records. Like Amesbury, the Hornets have lost only to Triton and Lynnfield. This should be an exciting game.

GRADY HAGAN

Senior Profile

By Alice Moulton

Grady, also sometimes called the Haganator, would say the most unique things about him are his long eyelashes. He would also say he is quite proud of being capable of passing Leary's class. If Grady were to use one word to describe himself, he would say he is creative because he has the ability to think outside the box. Wowza!

In school, Grady is in NHS and is the captain of the lacrosse team. He would say his favorite teacher is Mr. Galante because, according to Grady, he is a chiller. Even though Grady liked Mr. Galante's classes, his absolute favorite class was team sports because he got to throw balls at people. Overall, Grady enjoyed high school because he got to have lots of freedom and hang out with his bella Max White, but wished he got a bit more involved.

Outside of school, Grady likes skiing and chillin'. He also likes eating chicken tenders, listening to failing chemistry, although he was definitely not the only one! If Grady were able to change anything about his life, he would want to be less pale and get sunburnt less. Yeowch! He also wished he didn't run late as often...

Travis Scott, and playing GTAV. If Grady were given three wishes, he would want many pounds of cash, a nice pair of glasses, and a Celtics back-to-back championship.

When Grady was young, he wanted to be a racecar driver because he thought racecars were cool. Now, Grady wants to do the same thing he does now, go to school, for the next four years. In the farther future, Grady hopes to have a decent-paying job that he enjoys. Grady leaves the senior class with his final grain of wisdom- Just have fun! We wish Grady the best in the future, and hope that he is able to follow his own advice and have some

If they made a movie about Grady's life, he would want to be played by Clint Eastwood. Hopefully in this hypothetical film, Grady would be able to meet his greatest hero, Playboi Carti! Grady would say his most embarrassing moment was almost fun himself!

JACKSON GORDON

Senior Profile

By Alice Moulton

Jackson "JGords" Gordon would say he is a very outgoing guy. He is also pretty competent at golfing, as he won rookie of the year!

In school, Jackson is a class rep. He also is a fan of Mrs. Fuller, as he thought she was a very good teacher. If Jackson was able to relive his high school career, he would have wanted to be less lazy. If Jackson had to pick his favorite moments of high school, he would say it was making memories with friends, especially Noah Houkimas, and his sophomore year as a whole.

Outside of school, Jackson likes hiking, fishing, and playing golf. He also likes eating fried chicken, watching Fight Club, and playing Call of Duty: Warzone. If Jackson were granted three wishes, he would want to be rich, to have superpowers, and to get rid of his slice in golf. Straighten up!

procrastinate so much...don't we all! An expression you might hear

Jackson Gordon saying if you are around him is, "that's tuff." He would not say this around slow drivers; he hates those! If Jackson had a superpower, he would want to be able to fly. Maybe he wants to avoid these slow drivers... hmmm...

In the future, Jackson wants to go to college and have fun. Yay! His final message to the senior class is to enjoy being young while it lasts. We hope Jackson enjoys the rest of his high school experience, and that he has lots of joyous times after high school as well!

Jackson Gordon would say his most embarrassing moment was crashing into his garage door. He also sometimes wishes he didn't

WHY LOVE LIVE MUSIC?

Column

By Ryo Grove

With the increasing amount of music artists releasing new singles, albums, EPs, demos, remasters and alternate recordings, the amount of streaming time around the world has gone up hundreds of thousands, maybe millions, of minutes. Sure, discovering music is amazing, but listening to those songs over and over on old headphones in your room can get a little...underwhelming. Why not experience the music you love in a more exciting way? Why not hear it live?

First, before we get into why people like live music, we will talk about why some people don't. One of the biggest reasons I've heard people do not enjoy hearing music live is the sheer volume the music is played at. Many people can just bring ear protection to block out some of the sound, but that isn't enough for a lot of people who are sensitive to loud noises. My sister, a music lover, refuses to attend concerts because she doesn't like how loud they get. Another reason why some people choose not to attend live shows is because of the amount of people around them. Some people are afraid of germs, have social anxiety, or do not enjoy the environment of the show. All of these and almost every reason to not attend a live show is a valid reason.

Now that we've talked about why some people don't like live music, we can get into why some people love it. Personally, as someone who has been to multiple concerts over the past couple years, I love them because I can express myself around people who like the same music that I do. It's freeing and beautiful, watching everyone enjoy the same thing, even though so many concertgoers are different from each other. I asked some other people why they love live music. One person said they enjoy live shows because they can immerse themselves in the music, hearing it loudly from the speakers and from those around them singing along. Another person said they like to experience emotion from the singer more deeply, really detecting the tone of voice and changes in pitch, or how much of their "soul" they put into performing. Live music is (in my opinion) one of my favorite things to experience, and I always come home from concerts feeling like a new person.

Next, let's talk about concert etiquette. Whether hosted in someone's crappy, unfinished basement with four audience members or on the biggest stage in the country with more than fifty thousand people listening, there are many rules (both spoken and unspoken) about respectfulness at shows. First and most important to the musicians and those at the show with you, silencing your device is a must, especially at smaller or quieter performances. The noise from your device may interrupt or throw off the performers, so it is best to keep them silent. Make sure to be respectful to those around you, but most importantly, have fun! If you were to choose any concert in the world to attend, who would you see?

FUN FISH FACTS

Column

By Tori Woodsom

This week's AHS Weekly's theme is ocean animals! Sea creatures are truly fascinating animals. From their ancient age, to their cool abilities, animals from the sea are incredibly interesting. Here are some of my favorite facts about them...

- A blue whale's tongue can be heavier than an elephant
- Eating a puffer fish is deadly
- Crabs have taste buds on their feet
- An octopus has blue blood
- Lobsters can regrow eyes and arms
- Sharks kill less than 20 people each year
- The average lifespan for dolphins can be up to 50 years
- Jellyfish were around before the dinosaurs
- An octopus has 3 hearts
- Shrimp's hearts are in their head
- Dolphins are the second most intelligent animals in the world
- 94% of life on Earth lives in water
- Many species of fish are hermaphrodites
- The smallest fish in the world is 0.3 centimeters long
- Sharks can grow up to 20,000 teeth in a year
- Scallops can have up to 200 eyes
- Jellyfish have no brain, no eyes, no heart, and no bones
- Sharks have the ability to smell blood
- Some squid can be up to 50 feet long
- A vampire squid can turn itself inside out

ASK PETUNIA-JONES!

Protecting the Ocean Creatures

Dear Petunia Jones,

As a pirate, I am frequently in contact with the ocean. Though I do eat almost every fish I come in contact with; I care deeply about their wellbeing (before I eat them). Unfortunately I have noticed that lately that many fish (perhaps as a result of the terrible ocean environment) have strange features like extra eyes or arms or feet (they are more tasty this way, however since I care about their health and safety I am quite concerned). Please tell me, Petunia, how can I make the ocean a safe and clean space for my flippery friends?

-Pirate Phish McGee

Dear Phish;

I appreciate your concerns! I am well known in the ocean environmentalist movement. I can certainly give you some tips on how to do YOUR part in preserving the natural ocean-ness of the ocean!

Firstly; one of the greatest causes of fish related illness is low ocean salt content! when the ocean is not salty enough; neither are the fish! they crave salt; and when they do not get it they begin to sprout extra teeth where their faces should be. This causes low self esteem and can be detrimental to fish mental health! In order to combat this problem; I suggest collecting salty foods such as beef jerky (only beef jerky, the fish are very particular about their cow products). If you do not notice an immediate revitalization within your fish community; I recommend buying (or stealing because you are a pirate) as many salt shakers as you can carry, and sprinkling the contents off of the side of your ship. The fishes will certainly appreciate this!

Another cause of fish illness is a lack of activity. If fish become bored they will begin to attack one another. This violence will cause them to sprout extra eyes (they grow more eyes when they are wounded; It's a defense mechanism). Fish may get bored of water (the ocean has a lot of water) so you may need to provide them with a different and more entertaining liquid to swim in. I highly recommend pouring buckets of oil into the ocean; this will give your fish lots of new swimming opportunities! The oil will also provide the fish nutrients they would not receive otherwise, such as polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons (a delicacy in the fish world). If all else fails and the fish are still complaining to you despite your efforts; you may need to loudly sing a-capella song covers of the hit band "Phish". The beauty of your stunning voice will surely silence them.

Good luck on your journey to make the ocean a better place!

- Petunia
